Initials	Please Initial the Box which MOST applies:
	I wish to obtain a copy of my Utah Criminal History Record to take with me today. This agency may NOT retain a copy for any purpose.
	I authorize a release of my Utah Criminal History record, or any part thereof, by and to any duly authorized agent of this agency to accompany my employment, volunteer, licensing, permit application, or other expressed purpose approved by me today. Any information discovered may be used to consider my suitability for the purpose of my application.

I understand these results are not verified by fingerprints and are only valid on the date printed on this record. If I wish to challenge the completeness or accuracy of this record, I must submit a completed Application to Challenge Criminal History Records with fingerprints directly to the Bureau of Criminal Identification (BCI) where I may be subject to additional fees (R722-900-6).

I understand this waiver may be kept on file at this agency for a period of at least three years and is subject to review by BCI auditors, whether or not I choose to release my record to this agency today. I agree to indemnify and hold harmless BCI, this agency, elected officials, officers, employees, agents, and volunteers associated with this application process from and against all claims, damages, losses and expenses, including reasonable attorney's fees arising out of or by reason of complying with this request.

A photocopy or electronic copy of this waiver is a valid representation of my original signature and is considered legal and binding just as the original writing of my signature.

In connection with my application for employment (including contract or volunteer services) with "Company" I understand that you "Company" will request consumer reports on me. These reports may include information regarding my prior employment, criminal, civil, credit, driving, workers compensation, drug and alcohol testing information, and educational history. I further understand that such reports may contain public record information such as, but not limited to: my driving record, judgments, bankruptcy proceedings, criminal records, etc., from federal, state, and other agencies that maintain such records.

If I am hired, I understand that my employer can use this disclosure and authorization to continue to obtain such consumer reports throughout my employment, contract period, or volunteer service.

AUTHORIZATION

I hereby authorize the release to Blueline Services, an independent background screening agency, any information regarding my prior employment, criminal, civil, credit, driving, workers compensation, drug and alcohol testing information, and educational history. I understand the information may be reviewed initially and periodically during the course of my employment for future screening for retention, promotion, or reassignment.

I understand that my background may be used to determine my eligibility for employment, and I agree that falsification may make me ineligible for employment or subject to dismissal, if hired. I further acknowledge that Blueline Services is relying on third party information.

I hereby authorize that a photocopy or electronic facsimile of this document shall serve as an original.

A Summary of Your Rights Under the Fair Credit Reporting Act

The federal Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) promotes the accuracy, fairness, and privacy of information in the files of consumer reporting agencies. There are many types of consumer reporting agencies, including credit bureaus and specialty agencies (such as agencies that sell information about check writing histories, medical records, and rental history records). Here is a summary of your major rights under FCRA. For more information, including information about additional rights, go to www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore or write to: Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, 1700 G Street N.W., Washington, DC 20552.

- You must be told if information in your file has been used against you. Anyone who uses a credit report or another type of consumer report to deny your application for credit, insurance, or employment - or to take another adverse action against you - must tell you, and must give you the name, address, and phone number of the agency that provided the information.
- You have the right to know what is in your file. You may request and obtain all the information about you in the files of a consumer reporting agency (your "file disclosure"). You will be required to provide proper identification, which may include your Social Security number. In many cases, the disclosure will be free. You are entitled to a free file disclosure if:
 - a person has taken adverse action against you because of information in your credit report;
 - you are the victim of identity theft and place a fraud alert in your file;
 - your file contains inaccurate information as a result of fraud;
 - you are on public assistance;
 - you are unemployed but expect to apply for employment within 60 days.

In addition, all consumers are entitled to one free disclosure every 12 months upon request from each nationwide credit bureau and from nationwide specialty consumer reporting agencies. See www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore for additional information.

- You have the right to ask for a credit score. Credit scores are numerical summaries of your credit-worthiness based on information from credit bureaus. You may request a credit score from consumer reporting agencies that create scores or distribute scores used in residential real property loans, but you will have to pay for it. In some mortgage transactions, you will receive credit score information for free from the mortgage lender.
- You have the right to dispute incomplete or inaccurate information. If you identify information in your file that is incomplete or inaccurate, and report it to the consumer reporting agency, the agency must investigate unless your dispute is frivolous. See www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore for an explanation of dispute procedures.
- Consumer reporting agencies must correct or delete inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information. Inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information must be removed or corrected, usually within 30 days. However, a consumer reporting agency may continue to report information it has verified as accurate.
- Consumer reporting agencies may not report outdated negative information. In most cases, a consumer reporting agency may not report negative information that is more than seven years old, or bankruptcies that are more than 10 years old.
- Access to your file is limited. A consumer reporting agency may provide information about you only to people with a valid need -- usually to consider an application with a creditor, insurer, employer, landlord, or other business. The FCRA specifies those with a valid need for access.
- You must give your consent for reports to be provided to employers. A consumer reporting agency may not give out information about you to your employer, or a potential employer, without your written consent given to the employer. Written consent generally is not required in the trucking industry. For more information, go to www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore.

- You may limit "prescreened" offers of credit and insurance you get based on information in your credit report. Unsolicited "prescreened" offers for credit and insurance must include a toll-free phone number you can call if you choose to remove your name and address from the lists these offers are based on. You may opt out with the nationwide credit bureaus at 1-888-5-OPTOUT (1-888-567-8688).
- The following FCRA right applies with respect to nationwide consumer reporting agencies:

Consumers Have the Right To Obtain a Security Freeze

You have a right to place a "security freeze" on your credit report, which will prohibit a consumer reporting agency from releasing information in your credit report without your express authorization. The security freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a security freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit.

As an alternative to a security freeze, you have the right to place an initial or extended fraud alert on your credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer's credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer's credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer's identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting 7 years.

A security freeze does not apply to a person or entity, or its affiliates, or collection agencies acting on behalf of the person or entity, with which you have an existing account that requests information in your credit report for the purposes of reviewing or collecting the account. Reviewing the account includes activities related to account maintenance, monitoring, credit line increases, and account upgrades and enhancements.

- You may seek damages from violators. If a consumer reporting agency, or, in some cases, a user of consumer reports or a furnisher of information to a consumer reporting agency violates the FCRA, you may be able to sue in state or federal court.
- Identity theft victims and active duty military personnel have additional rights. For more information, visit www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore.

States may enforce the FCRA, and many states have their own consumer reporting laws. In some cases, you may have more rights under state law. For more information, contact your state or local consumer protection agency or your state Attorney General. For information about your federal rights, contact:
